Linda was the first to notice the bird, while we were working on Moriche Oriole and Sulphury Flycatchers on the creek. "There's a big bird in a tree up ahead on the right." When Ridgely saw it, he exclaimed, "Stop the boat! Turn off the motor! It's a Harpy Eagle." Our driver complied and immediately got on the radio to notify the other groups. Soon, we had a flotilla of Zodiacs speeding to join us in a raft that ultimately extended to six boats. The eagle was amazingly cooperative, sitting out on an exposed branch for over 30 minutes.
